Contents

NUMBER 1

1 Editorial

3 Grint, K. Sisyphus and the social construction of computer user problems

19 Olfman, L. & Mandviwalla, M. An experimental analysis of end-user software training manuals

37 Colomb, R.M. & Orlowska, M.E. Interoperability in information systems

51 Myers, M.D. Dialectical hermeneutics: a theoretical framework for the implementation of information systems

71 Book Review

NUMBER 2

73 Editorial

75 Calloway, L.J. & Ariav, G. Designing with dialogue charts: a qualitative content analysis of end-user designers' experiences with a software engineering design tool

105 Vandenbosch, B. & Higgins, C. Executive support systems and executive preferences: a comparison of information channel selection theories

119 Crnkovic, J. & Holstein, W.K. Information systems: necessity or luxury in changing economies?

137 Kelleher, D. Business programme and information systems methodologies

NUMBER 3

159 Editorial

161 Conger, S., Loch, K.D. & Helft, B.L. Ethics and information technology use: a factor analysis of attitudes to computer use

185 Rao, H.R., Pegels, C.C., Salam, A.F. & Hwang, K.T. The impact of EDI implementation commitment and implementation success on competitive advantage and firm performance

203 Wand, Y. & Weber, R. On the deep structure of information systems

225 Watson, H. & Wood-Harper, T. Methodology as metaphor: the practical basis for multiview methodology (a reply to M.C. Jackson)

NUMBER 4

233 Editorial

235 Farbey, B., Targett, D. & Land, F. Evaluating business information systems: reflections on an empirical study

253 Braa, K. & Øgrim.,L. Critical view of the application of the ISO standard for quality assurance

271 Karake., Z.A. The management of information technology, governance, and managerial characteristics

285 Mingers., J.C. Information and meaning: foundations for an intersubjective account

307 Book Review

310 Announcement

311 Author Index

313 Keyword Index